WELCOME!

This week's Inside Soap is jam-packed with stuff. Sometimes I just don't know how we fit it all in! I was very excited by our sneak pics of Denise and Phil having what looks like a heart-to-heart – will she reveal all on her big baby secret? We peruse the possibilities on p10. Meanwhile, Corrie's Phelan story appears to be reaching its climax, and the con is well and truly on as he heads to the airport – but can he really get away with the scheme and his neighbours' cash? See p19.

As well as goss, we've got some great chats with soap favourites. Catherine Tyldesley tells us why she would give Corrie's Eva a stiff talking-to, Walford's Jamie Borthwick gives us the inside story on Jay's latest troubles and why women want to embrace him, and Casualty's Cathy Shipton (Duffy) explains how it felt to experience a kiss that's been 30 years in the making! I've had a couple like that!

DIANE ON THE WARPATH!

After Chrissie's plot to frame Andy is exposed, his stepmother lashes out at Lachlan...

Prepare for major fireworks at Home Farm this week, as vengeful Rebecca reveals everything about Chrissie's plot to frame Andy Sugden for Lawrence's shooting!

The shocking truth comes tumbling out at a bonfire party laid on by the White family, with Chrissie resorting to extreme measures to cover her tracks and silence her sibling. But when her scheming backfires and Rebecca comes back fighting, panicked Chrissie has a lot of explaining to do...

"Rebecca makes quite an entrance at the bonfire," reveals star Louise Marwood, who plays Chrissie.

"Everyone in the village is there, and Chrissie feels sick knowing her sister has come to stick the knife in – and of course she does!"

Chrissie's nightmare unfolds thanks to her unwitting son Lachlan, who inadvertently leads Rebecca to the missing vase that was 'stolen' to fit up Andy. After reporting her findings to Robert, careless Rebecca runs into Chrissie and Lachlan with the evidence still in her possession – and all hell breaks loose between the sisters. But who will prevail?

"Chrissie knows it's her only chance to keep the truth from coming out, so she makes a grab for Rebecca's bag," explains Louise. "But they end up in a scuffle, which has dangerous consequences."

Following Chrissie's triumph, she successfully manages to secure the vase from Rebecca, and hopes to dispose of it on the Home Farm bonfire to keep her treachery from ever being exposed.

However, when Rebecca suddenly reappears and reveals the terrible truth to Andy's stunned family, wicked Chrissie's malicious plotting is finally laid bare for all to see...

"Lawrence rushes to Chrissie's defence, but Robert is annoyed," shares Louise. "He was the one who put Rebecca on Chrissie's case in the first place, and I think he would have preferred to have kept his powder dry for longer. Meanwhile, Chrissie knows that Diane and the rest of the Sugdens are going to take this news very badly, and will no doubt want revenge for everything!"

And indeed they do, as raging Diane leads the charge and organises a smear campaign against Chrissie's family! But just how far will the former landlady go to get justice?

Lachlan is unaware that Rebecca has camouflaged herself in the bushes!

Everybody is stunned when the fireworks start early at Home Farm...

"Diane is fuming and storms Home Farm," grimaces Louise. "She's disgusted with the Whites and wants to get to the bottom of what they did to Andy. She can't believe this of Chrissie, and wants answers!"

As the clan continue to deny their guilt, desperate Diane resorts to drastic measures to extract a confession out of them. She mounts a protest while the Whites are holding a PR event at their adventure park – but as Diane's daring demonstration spirals out of control, angry Chrissie snaps and announces that she's evicting Doug, Bernice and Diane from their home

...and Diane launches a vicious vendetta against the White clan at Brook Cottage. Diane clearly hasn't thought this through! "The eviction is initially mentioned to get them to stop, but the situation becomes serious when a brick comes flying through the window of Home Farm – and Chrissie decides that enough is enough," says Louise. "She calls the police about the incident – and nobody can stop her." While Chrissie declares that they have seven days to leave their home, Diane loses her cool and warns Lawrence's real shooter, Lachlan, that his sins will catch up with him one day. However, as the vile teen proceeds to film Diane's rant on his mobile phone, she sees red and lashes out at him! Has Diane gone too far this time – and how long can Chrissie continue to lie for her son? LAURA-JAYNE TYLER

Chrissie's RISE TO POWER!

LOUISE LOOKS BACK ON A MAMMOTH FEW MONTHS FOR HER CHARACTER – AND MAKES HER PREDICTIONS ON WHAT THE FUTURE HOLDS...

QUEEN BITCH!

For a woman who was once so sweet, kind and caring, the turn of cruel Chrissie was never on Louise's radar... "I didn't imagine she'd become so calculated!" exclaims the actress. "I'm loving it, though. Chrissie is very fierce, isn't she?"

RETURN OF THE EX?

With Andy's family having finally learned the truth about him being framed, will he return to take his revenge on Chrissie? "That would be fun, though I don't expect it will be any time soon, as he's still on the run," Louise points out. "But if he did come back to the Dales, he'd wreak havoc!"

SISTER ACT!

Chrissie and Rebecca may be at war, but Louise says she and Emily Head – who plays her sibling – get on like a house on fire. "We always knew the bosses would bring in Rebecca at some point, as Lawrence and Chrissie always mentioned her," says the star. "I'm thrilled they cast Emily, because we both just clicked. We're having such great fun filming as these feuding sisters!"

SON OF ANARCHY!

And with the net closing even tighter on Lachlan, how far will Chrissie go in order to protect her beloved son? "I think she would sacrifice herself to keep Lachy out of prison," reckons Louise. "Chrissie is very loyal – but deep down, she knows that he is very troubled. He's done some dreadful things, so who knows whether or not she can keep covering for him?"

LIBBY'S BABY SHOCK!

She's stunned to learn that Denise is pregnant...

Denise endures an awkward reunion with daughter Libby this week, after the horrified girl reacts badly to the news that her mum is expecting another child!

And as the feisty Fox women struggle to see eye to eye, it's one more aggravation stressed-out Denise can do without...

"Denise is carrying Phil Mitchell's baby, so she's not exactly full of the joys of spring," points out our Walford insider. "She has considered all the possibilities of what it means to have a child at this stage in her life, and it's not something she's entering into lightly. So when Libby turns up and starts wagging her finger at her mum, it doesn't go down very well!"

Denise has had about as much as she can stand from interfering family members, with sister Kim having previously offered to adopt the child when Denise pondered giving the unborn little'un away. So as Libby arrives in the Square after receiving a call from Kim, Denise is furious that her sibling has interfered again – and is even more angry when she's forced to reveal all to Libby about her pregnancy.

"Denise has barely managed to get her own head around her situation, let alone considered having to tell Libby and her other daughter, Chelsea," says our source. "She would have told the girls in her own time, but Kim's meddling has forced her hand. It puts Denise in a difficult position, and once again she has some very tricky questions to answer."

So far, only Denise's good friend Masood knows that Phil is the baby's father. The Fox family still has no clue, and with Denise being so secretive it's no wonder that Libby begins to doubt whether her 47-year-old mum is up to having a baby.

"It wasn't so long ago Libby terminated her own pregnancy, for fear of not feeling ready to start a family," our mole reminds us. "Denise was devastated at the time, and the thought of taking the same action hasn't even entered her mind. But Libby obviously has some serious concerns, and isn't shy about raising them!"

“LIBBY HAS CONCERNS – AND SHE ISN'T SHY ABOUT RAISING THEM WITH DENISE”

As mother and daughter reach a stalemate, Kim takes matters into her own hands once more – but this time it helps Denise and Libby to clear the air. Once they begin talking again, Libby confesses her fears about the pregnancy to her mum, who assures her that everything will be okay. But does Denise believe it herself?

Sadly, she isn't able to put Libby's mind at rest, as her daughter blasts Denise for Where is Chelsea?

DENISE'S ELDEST COULD BE IN LINE FOR A RETURN...

With Libby now in the know about her mum's pregnancy, surely it can only be a matter of time before Denise's other daughter, Chelsea, finds out she's going to have a new little brother or sister.

EastEnders doesn't exactly shy away from bringing back former characters to suit the storyline, with Ryan Malloy recently making a couple of appearances for his sister Whitney's plot. Could a return for Chelsea be in the works?

From what we know, she's living in Spain and is still in contact with Libby. Provided Denise doesn't go into early labour and have her baby this Christmas (we bet you £5), the due date is at the end of January. So perhaps we'll hear from Chelsea then, if not before...

Masood knows that Denise is growing a mini-Mitchell...

her unhealthy eating habits. Kathy attempts to reassure Libby by reminding her she didn't have Ben till later on in life – but when Libby sees him being rude, she's given food for thought!

With that, Libby prepares a nice healthy dinner for Denise and Patrick, before announcing that she's planning on staying in Walford to help her mum with the baby. So will having her daughter around prove helpful for Denise – or do the pair risk falling out again if Libby carries on interfering?

A BABY BOMBSHELL FOR PHIL?

Pregnant Denise looks set to stun him with some massive news...

Could this be the moment that Denise tells Phil that she's carrying his baby?

Our spies spotted EastEnders stars Diane Parish and Steve McFadden, who play the pair, filming scenes that feature their characters in the midst of a very curious-looking heart-to-heart in Walford's local graveyard.

Phil looks as if he's on death's door as he continues to wait for a liver transplant – however, will his fight for life become even more desperate if Denise tells him he's going to be a dad again?

"Say what you want about Phil, but there is no one he loves more than his kids," insists our Square insider. "He screwed up big time

Phil has plenty of things to reflect on – is being a father again one of them?

“MAYBE DENISE WILL TAKE PITY ON PHIL AND DIVULGE THE TRUTH...”

might suddenly remember their drunken night of passion! And yet here they are having what looks like a civilised conversation – which is surprising, given that they can't stand one another!

From what we can tell, Phil is visiting his mum Peggy's grave when he bumps into Denise, who looks to be laying flowers by another headstone – perhaps for her old pal Pat Butcher, or former husband Kevin Wicks.

"The details of the duo's conversation are being kept very quiet, as Walford bosses want it to be a surprise for viewers when it airs," explains our mole. "There's certainly no love lost between these two, although given that Phil looks so poorly, maybe Denise will take pity on him and divulge the truth. But then again, their chat may just confirm Denise's long-standing opinion that Phil is a waste of space, and that she should stay well away!"

With the episode expected to air before the year's end, only time will tell on the outcome...

MARIA'S MURDER MISERY!

A bloody discovery makes her seem all the more guilty...

CORONATION STREET | ITV Wednesday

Maria is in a state of shock this week, when she comes across a potential murder weapon in her bag.

It's hard to believe anyone would think the mild-mannered hairdresser was a cold-blooded killer – but her clients do, and they abandon her in her time of need. Maria is devastated, but there's more agony as she later comes across blood-soaked scissors in her hairdressing kit!

"The odds seem more and more stacked against Maria," reckons our Corrie insider. "The police already believe they have enough evidence to make Maria a murder suspect. Now the lass has what could be a murder weapon in her possession and it's covered in Caz's blood – as well as her own fingerprints."

Earlier in the week, the stressed Street stalwart is terrified of being alone, so Beth and Kirk call round to comfort her. After Kirk gives her flat a thorough sweep, he assures his sister that she has nothing to worry about. However, the flat isn't as clean as they all think!

Maria's clients are deserting her – and so are her friends

To add to her woes, Maria follows pal Eva's advice and decides to come clean to the police about her sham marriage to Pablo. Although she thinks the truth will help her, Maria's confession only succeeds in making things worse...

"The police point out that Caz was aware of Maria's illegal marriage, so this seems like the perfect motive for Maria to kill her!" explains our spy. "Things are going from bad to worse every day, but luckily Aidan is convinced of Maria's innocence – and even helps her search homeless shelters in the hope of finding Caz. He's doing everything he can, but when he sees the bloody scissors, he's as speechless as Maria is."

“AIDAN SEES THE SCISSORS – AND HE'S AS SPEECHLESS AS MARIA IS!”

Maria's temper isn't helping to clear her name!

Violent outburst!

Just as the pair wonder what they should do, the cops suddenly arrive at the door with a search warrant for the flat! Savvy Aidan thinks on his feet and makes a speedy exit with the scissors in tow, quickly disposing of them in the factory bin. But is this a good enough hiding place to save Maria from a life sentence? And has foolish Aidan now incriminated himself in this sticky situation as well?

MARIA'S ACTIONS COULD IMPACT MICHELLE'S BABY...

Maria is lucky to have Aidan and Eva – because judging by her behaviour this week, she may lose the rest of her friends!

Maria is full of paranoia – so after she sees Tyrone and Michelle gabbing in the Rovers, she accuses them of gossiping about her. Michelle calmly tries to reason with her – but Maria lashes out and shoves Michelle, bashing her stomach against the bar! Has Maria harmed the baby?

WHERE ARE THE OSBORNES?

Worried Cindy gets on the lead in tracking them down...

Cindy fears for the Osbornes' safety in the wake of their mysterious disappearance this week, so she decides to take the lead in tracking them down.

Halloween week took a horrifying turn when the whole clan suspiciously vanished into thin air – and having received no word from any member of the family, Cindy is left fearing the worst when she witnesses the sorry state of the Osborne house...

"The place is trashed and empty, so Cindy knows all is not well," explains Steph Waring, who plays her. "There's food on the table, chairs everywhere, glass on the floor. Then when Holly and Dirk come to inspect the scene, Cindy notices spots of blood on the counter. They definitely haven't just packed up and left – it's very sinister!"

Although Cindy doesn't know what to make of this shocking turn of events, viewers will be totally beside themselves with concern knowing that cop Eva was hell-bent on killing Jack on the day they all disappeared. And this week, Liam worries that she may have really done the deadly deed, when he finds her cleaning up the blood in the house! With Cindy quite rightly having little faith in the police to crack the case, she vows to find out the truth herself.

"She's really worried, and I think she'll stop at nothing in order to find them," reckons Steph. "Later she finds the Osbornes' phones dumped in a bin in the Dog car park, and all these things are adding up to suggest something is very wrong. Everyone forgets that they're related, but Tom is Cindy's brother and Steph is her niece. Eva tries to reassure her, but she just refuses to let it go."

However, Cindy knows that every great detective needs a top-notch partner, and recruits an unexpected ally to help her carry out her enquiries.

"Cindy gets Grace involved and they go off on a mission together, which is a lot of fun," reveals Steph. "It's been great working with Tamara [Wall, who plays Grace], and I love our characters together – it's like Scooby and Scrappy-Doo!"

At this point it looks as if Eva is the only one who may know what's happened to the Osborne clan – and if the super-smart DI is involved, she'll surely have covered her tracks. So it looks as though Cindy has a long investigation on her hands.

In spite of the family ties, Cindy doesn't usually have a lot to do with the Osbornes, so Steph was pleased to be the one leading the search.

"It's obviously shrouded in mystery and that's what I love about this storyline," grins the actress. "They just vanish, and there are all these clues about what's happened to them. I'm picking up the clues along the way as well, and I can't wait to find out what's happened!"

LAURA HEFFERNAN

Cindy is shaken by what she sees at the Osbornes'

“CINDY WILL STOP AT NOTHING IN ORDER TO FIND THE OSBORNE FAMILY.”

Super sleuth Cindy!

She has previous for solving mysteries...

Cindy's certainly not the sharpest tool in the box, but she's determined to crack the case – so perhaps she would be better suited to the police station than the Emporium. After all, she previously teamed up with Mercedes to unveil the identity of the 'Gloved Hand Killer'.

"Yes, she found the Gloved Hand's shrine!"

laughs Steph. "Cindy is definitely the Miss Marple of the village. I think she should become a PCSO and take over Carmel Valentine's old job, or start writing crime fiction as well as her erotic novels. Although while Cindy thinks she's got what it takes to solve this mystery, I definitely don't think she has the brains!"

A WATERY GRAVE FOR THE MITCHELL SISTERS?

Rumours surrounding their dramatic exit continue to circulate...

The mystery of Ronnie and Roxy's explosive exit from Albert Square is becoming more tantalising with each passing week!

The latest rumour to emerge is that the Mitchell sisters will plummet to a watery grave in dramatic scenes involving a swimming pool this New Year's Eve. However, an EastEnders spokesperson has put a cat among the pigeons...

"We know how much our audience hate to have future storylines spoilt, so we do not comment on speculation," said the spokesperson. "However, knowing that there is huge excitement about the departure of Ronnie and Roxy, we are filming various different endings to keep this plot under wraps."

Meanwhile, former Walford fave Dame Barbara Windsor (Peggy Mitchell) has reportedly slammed the decision to write the sisters out of the show.

"It wasn't the girls' choice – it was the new producer's decision," she told a tabloid. "I'm sure he'll be good for the show, but that is a mistake. When I heard, I was shocked."

Star Samantha Womack, aka Ronnie, recently posted on Twitter a behind-the-scenes snap of herself and co-star Rita Simons (Roxy), captioned with the following cryptic message: "Multiple endings... Do you know what you think you know? Is it the end, will it end, who will go and how?"

The actress has since thanked Babs for her support, tweeting: "Feeling loved and supported by my Auntie P. Love her forever." She also waxed lyrical over her screen sibling, telling one paper: "I've spent more time with [Rita] than any of my family, working together 14 hours a day – and we've never had an argument." Sadly, the girls won't be together much longer...

LATEST NEWS | Emmerdale

Sam for Emmerdale?

Fans of Samantha were intrigued recently when they suspected she was joining rival soap Emmerdale.

After Sam tweeted actor John Bowe (Lawrence) to praise the show's recent car pile-up episodes, the actor's reply of "Great to have you on board" left fans convinced Sam was set for a Dales role – with one even suggesting she could be a cousin of Chrissie White!

Sadly, Sam set the record straight. "No, not joining," she tweeted. "Just respect from another soap member." Bit of a shame, if you ask us!

THE BARLOWS REUNITED!

Feast your eyes on Ken's youngest son, Daniel...

SNEAK PREVIEW!

Here is your first look at Corrie newbie Daniel Osbourne, who will soon be reunited with his father Ken and half-brother Peter.

Our sneaky snaps show stars William Roache and Chris Gascoyne filming some of their first scenes with actor Rob Mallard, who has been signed up to play Daniel. The only noticeable absentee is Sam Robertson, who is reprising the role of Ken's grandson Adam – however, he and Daniel are expected to arrive on the cobbles at the same time.

"I'm excited about Sam coming back to play Adam, and Rob as Daniel is a fascinating actor to watch," revealed head honcho Kate Oates, when we spoke to her at the recent desperately trying to contact his estranged family members to tell them the news. Our pictures suggest the Weatherfield stalwart will make a good recovery, and that his health scare will be the catalyst that brings his fractured family back together.

With Ken having just suffered a stroke, Peter and Tracy have been

Phelan flees!

But will he be caught?

In other exciting Corrie news, evil Phelan looks set to do a runner from Weatherfield! Our Street spies caught a glimpse of actor Connor McIntyre – who plays the baddy – filming scenes that show his character preparing to take a flight to Cancun in Mexico. But will he succeed in skipping the country?

“If Phelan has successfully swindled the locals through his dodgy housing scam with Vinny, he’ll be looking to grab the cash and run!” insists our insider. “Vinny has arranged fake passports for them both, so it looks as if their wicked scheme is going to pay off...”

The pair have committed major fraud by conning the likes of Rita and Sarah into buying flats in a development that doesn’t exist. They reluctantly brought Todd in on their plan after he cottoned on and threatened to expose them – but he is nowhere to be seen at the airport as Phelan tries to make his escape. Meanwhile, Vinny looks as though he’s in the holiday mood as well, donning a Hawaiian-print shirt and heading off with a suitcase.

Is this really the last we’ll see of the villainous duo? Or will one last twist in the tale see their cruel deception backfire in spectacular fashion?

“After what has happened to Ken, his family are going to be flapping around,” shares Kate. “The big questions are: Can he keep them all sweet? And can Peter do that as well? He’s going to have to be the man of the house, but he has secrets of his own...”

The Barlow boys will cause a stir when they arrive later this month.

IS VICTORIA PREGNANT?

As Ross makes a move on his brother's wife, Victoria reckons she's expecting...

Adam and Ross make hay while the clouds gather

EMMERDALE | ITV Wednesday

There's one hell of a week in store for Victoria, as her brother-in-law Ross tries to kiss her – prompting a huge punch-up when her outraged husband Adam finds out!

But there's more drama to come after Victoria gets caught in the crossfire while Ross and Adam battle it out – and is forced to reveal that she might be pregnant...

"Victoria has had her suspicions for a couple of weeks now," reveals Isabel Hodgins, who plays her. "But with everything that's been happening, she's pushed it to the back of her mind. Adam has been through a lot with the loss of his sister Holly and then James, and he's been shutting her out. Which is how she ends up in a situation with Ross!"

With Adam lost in his grief, Victoria seeks out Ross. He is still fuming that James got passionate with Adam's mum Moira shortly before his death, and so the atmosphere between the siblings is frosty, to say the least. Hoping to help clear the air, Victoria takes Ross aside – but receives a very unwelcome surprise in return.

TORIA ANT?

Victoria is injured as she gets caught up in the melee

The hump with a bump

PHOTO: GETTY

"Victoria is just being nice – she lost her own father, Jack, so hopes that Ross might open up to her," shares Isabel. "But Ross can be a nasty piece of work, so instead he decides to get back at Adam by trying to snog Victoria! Of course, she gives him a slap across the face and storms out – but Ross hopes she'll tell Adam, because he wants a scrap."

Torn between ruining Ross' plan and being honest with her husband, Victoria decides to keep quiet. But Ross just can't help himself, and soon dashes Victoria's hopes in favour of throwing his fists about.

"Victoria knows what it would do to Adam if he knew," sighs Isabel. "She confides in her best mate, Finn, but makes him promise not to say anything. But obviously he drives straight up to the house to have it out with Ross – and Adam overhears! "Victoria then arrives and Ross keeps stirring the pot, so Adam retaliates. The boys start to fight, and while Victoria is trying to break them up, she ends up getting hurt."

Concerned she may have cracked a rib, Victoria is forced to reveal that she could be pregnant while at the hospital being examined. However, it doesn't get the reaction from Adam that she's hoping for...

"Adam is not as sold on the idea of having a baby as Victoria is," explains Isabel. "Victoria is a bit scared, too, and obviously it's not the ideal time, but she thought – because of what Adam went through when he thought he was going to be a father with Vanessa – that he'd think it was nice. So she's a bit disappointed."

If it turns out that Victoria and Adam really are set to be parents, can grief-stricken Adam step up to the plate?

ALLISON JONES

Isabel tells us that she isn't exactly relishing the possibility of an on-screen pregnancy!

"If Victoria ends up expecting, I did think it might be quite cute to have a little bump," shares the actress. "But I talked to a few people at work and they were all like, 'Oh no – it's actually really uncomfortable!'. Apparently it makes going for a wee 10 times longer, because you have to take it all off first. So it turns out it's a bit of a burden!"

BETHANY'S HEARTBREAK!

The poor lass discovers that her mum and Gary are an item...

Bethany has an unpleasant surprise in store this week, when she organises a candlelit dinner for Gary – but then finds out that her crush is embroiled in a secret relationship with her mum!

Before her heart is shattered into a million pieces, Bethany plots a romantic date for Gary on the quiet. But the evening comes to an awkward end after Sarah obviously hijacks the set-up, and assumes Bethany has organised it as a sign of approval for her and Gary...

"Bethany feels humiliated!" reveals Lucy Fallon, who plays her. "She wants to tell Gary she has feelings for him, because he's been so nice to her over the past few months – helping her out with her problems at school and showing an interest in her life. Then when he pays her a compliment on her hair, Bethany reads far too much into it – and it gives her the confidence to invite him over to Nick's flat for a meal."

While Bethany knows Nick's flat will be empty that evening, Gary is under the impression that she's asking him round for a family gathering. Presuming Sarah will be present, he accepts Bethany's invitation, with no idea of what's really in store.

"Bethany puts a lasagne in the oven and candles on the table – and keeps the hairdo Gary complimented her on," shares Lucy. "It's all Bethany's way of trying to show Gary that she's grown up. She wants the evening to be just the two of them, so she can tell him how she feels – hoping that he'll feel the same way about her."

Unfortunately, that's far from the case. As Bethany pops out to buy more candles, unwitting Sarah decides to sneak over to Nick's for a few hours of solitude – and is stunned by the romantic scene which greets her. After Gary arrives, the bemused couple deduce that this must be Bethany's way of showing that she's happy they're an item – but little do they realise that the teen had a very different idea in mind.

"Bethany is just coming back with the candles when she sees Sarah and Gary smooching on the balcony," sighs Lucy. "She feels completely foolish and embarrassed for herself. But I'm not sure that this will change her feelings for Gary..."

Can Bethany find a way of dealing with her burgeoning crush? And how will the happy couple react if they ever learn Bethany's true emotions?

Platt in pain – and peril?

Bethany has already had one hell of a year – battling bullies and struggling with diet pills. So how will she cope now she knows that Gary is her mum's new fella?

"I don't think Bethany would want to cause trouble for Sarah," reckons Lucy. "She knows how much her family has been through, and she doesn't want to hurt anyone. But I think having Gary around a lot as her mum's boyfriend is going to cause problems."

"Bethany will try to push her own feelings aside, but she's vulnerable and lonely," adds the star. "Her confidence has been chipped away. And even though she's grown up a lot lately, I think if Gary and Sarah stay together, it might send Bethany off the rails..."

Can you really afford that coffee, Belinda?

MASOOD: IT'S ME OR MY MONEY!

Is Belinda about to abandon her ailing business for love?

It's make-or-break time for Belinda this week, as bailiffs breathe down her neck while her ailing beauty empire, Elysium, remains on borrowed time. So when her potential new beau Masood makes a last-minute offer that could save her beloved business, Belinda is stunned.

A stay of execution for Elysium is apparently just a handshake away – the only catch being that if Belinda decides to accept Masood's much-needed cash, any chance of romance with him will be off the table. So will she choose love or money?

"Talk about being caught between a rock and a hard place!" splutters our Walford insider. "Belinda was ready to do anything to stop Elysium going under, and Masood has proved himself a valuable ally and loyal friend. But they are two Walford singletons, and there's a definite spark between them. It's pretty clear that both have been hoping something more is on the cards.

"So when Masood offers Belinda the cash she needs, but insists they can't get involved if she takes it, what's the poor woman to do?"

Belinda has made desperate attempts to raise funds for Elysium via local investors, but all to no avail. After her wealthy ex-husband Neville also turned her down, Masood – a man with some experience of money nightmares – stepped in with good advice. He helped Belinda to draw up a new business plan, then accompanied her to the bank to apply for a loan – a close friendship blossoming all the while. So when Belinda receives more bad news this week, she heads straight over to see her new mentor...

"Belinda is on her final warning," sighs our sneak. "She has one last chance to pay off her debts before the bailiffs are back – no excuses! But with nothing forthcoming from the bank, Belinda is out of options. After she steps in to help Masood when he's distracted while looking after son Kamil, the two of them head out together for a drink and a chat."

Understanding only too well the impossible situation Belinda is in, kindly Masood extends a helping hand. But the strength of his feelings becomes clear as he does...

"Masood is willing to lend Belinda the cash she needs," shares our informant. "But he is well aware of the pitfalls of mixing business with pleasure – particularly in a place as small as Walford. So for the sake of his own feelings and his future in the Square, Masood is forced to add a pretty excruciating caveat to his offer: 'My money or me – you can't have both!'"

With the clock ticking, Belinda is under all kinds of pressure as she mulls over Masood's proposal. But is her burning ambition to make it in the business world set to be extinguished by a hankering for happiness in her personal life?

Anna is visited by Gail, but Kevin hates David with a passion

CORONATION STREET | ITV Monday

DAVID'S NEW ENEMY!

Kevin is determined to take his revenge...

Hearbroken Kevin struggles to accept Anna's choice to end their relationship this week – and takes out his anger on David Platt!

Anna was horrified when she woke up in hospital to the sight of the horrific burns she'd suffered when she got caught up in David's crazed vendetta against killer Clayton. Kevin was determined to help his partner as she prepared for a challenging recovery, but was devastated when Anna declared that she no longer loved him and that they were finished.

Kevin has already flown off the handle at David, only for the other Platts to spring to his defence. But when Kev spies his quarry by himself this week, the raging fella can't hold back...

"Everything was going so well for Kevin and Anna," sighs our Corrie source. "They were moving in together and were both blissfully happy, but now Anna's life will never be the same – and as far as Kevin's concerned, it's David's fault. He's absolutely furious and tells David to watch his back – it all sounds very menacing! Who knows what Kev will do to David if he finds out it was because he was foolishly going after Clayton? Kevin is not a scary man by any means, but his threats sound deadly serious."

Meanwhile, hospitalised Anna reveals the details of her split with Kevin to her son Gary. She still loves Kevin, of course, but doesn't want to be a burden now she has severe injuries to contend with. Solemn Gary feels for his mum, but there's no way Kevin is giving up on her so easily – as he turns up at the hospital begging her to give their relationship another go.

Having already been briefed by the doctor about what's in store for Anna, Kevin assures her that he loves her more than ever and will be by her side every step of the way. But has he said enough to convince Anna to take him back?

"I hope so – they're such a lovely couple," shares our spy. "It's awful that Anna feels she is doing Kevin a favour by letting him go, because she needs all the support she can get.

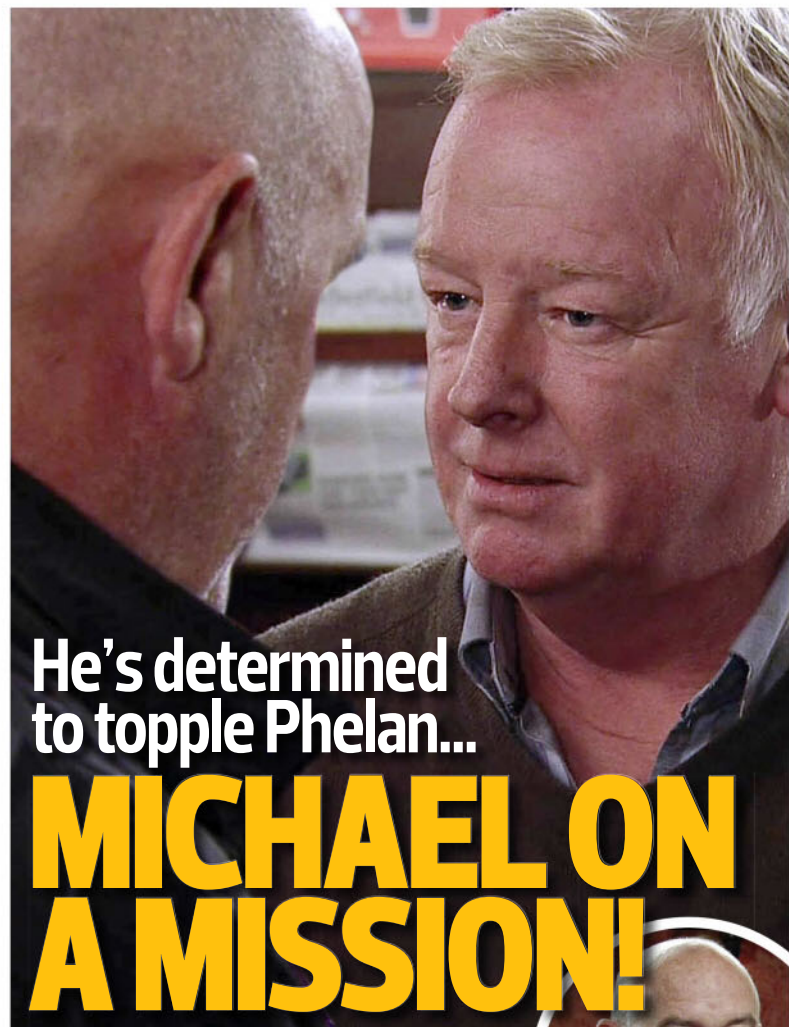

And you can't blame Kevin for persisting, because Anna is the best thing to happen to him in ages – particularly when you compare her to his barmy exes!

"He's serious about having a future with Anna, so fingers crossed that she believes him when he says he wants to be there to help her get better..."

MICHAEL ON A MISSION!

CORONATION STREET | ITV Weds

Michael's suspicions about dodgy Phelan explode this week – after he hears the rotter discussing his dealings with Vinny in the Rovers.

Michael has had a number of clashes with Phelan since he returned to the cobbles – and whereas most locals have swallowed Phelan's fraudulent claims regarding his housing development, Michael remains convinced something is up.

This week, Michael finds himself at Anna's bedside when he accompanies guilt-ridden Gail to the hospital. And having heard all about Anna's own dark history with Phelan, he shares his qualms about the villain.

Of course, Anna is currently more concerned with her life-changing injuries than whatever Phelan is planning, but Michael is like a dog with a bone – and becomes even more convinced that something fishy is going on when he overhears Phelan and Vinny discussing some very dubious-sounding details in the pub!

Although Michael doesn't pick up enough to provide him with concrete evidence against his rival, he's more convinced than ever that Phelan is up to no good. And when Michael later spies Freddie being railroaded into a game of poker with him and Vinny, he realises Freddie is about to get fleeced – and steps in to save him.

Phelan is furious when Michael wipes the floor with him, and is determined to settle the score. Is Michael biting off more than he can chew when it comes to his dangerous foe?

BELLE'S BACK!

But will it be a happy homecoming?

There's good news for the Dingles this week, as troubled Belle reveals that she's finally coming home, following her breakdown and hospitalisation. But when she announces she'll be staying with her dad Zak at Dale Head once she returns, it's a shock for her nearest and dearest.

While it's only been a short few days since Zak made a move on his ex-wife Lisa after hitting Belle's boyfriend Bailey, the optimistic patriarch insists all will be well. But when he goes on to make a dramatic confession to his daughter, he and Belle have a falling-out...

"Belle has made a great recovery over the past few weeks, but there's still a long road ahead," declares our Dales source. "She's going to need the continuing support of her family, and it's vital that she feels settled and secure. So moving in with her father's new family – particularly with all the recent ructions – is risky."

While Joanie knows nothing of what happened between Zak and his ex, she's concerned to learn that her stepdaughter will be moving in. These worries are shared by Bailey – who was punched by Zak when the older man wrongly assumed he was cheating on Belle. But despite her family's reservations, Belle is convinced that she's doing the right thing.

"All she wants is to get her life back together again," shares our snitch. "Belle also wants to get back to basics with Bailey, putting their troubled past behind them to get their relationship on track."

Belle is delighted when her fella agrees to start over from scratch – but once she's moved into Dale Head, it's a different story for her new housemates. Joanie's grandson Kyle and Dan's daughter Amelia witnessed Belle's dramatic outbursts while she was ill, and it transpires that the pair are terrified of her...

"They're only kids, and don't understand that Belle has been suffering from a mental illness – no wonder they're wary," sighs our spy. "Belle is undaunted, facing the situation head on by trying to put the youngsters at ease. But Zak ends up ruining his daughter's efforts by shouting at the kids when he finds them wearing metal hats to protect them from Belle's voices."

"Belle is furious, as the hats were helping Amelia and Kyle to relax around her. And when she lays into Zak for losing his rag, he ends up dropping his bombshell."

Zak speaks up after Belle insists the two of them need to be honest with each other if she's to settle back in at home. But what Zak tells her comes as such a shock that she decides to move back in with Lisa! What has been said? And will it affect Belle's all-important recuperation?

Rhona's drug hell!

As her habit resurfaces, Pierce's past is revealed...

SNEAK PREVIEW!

Emmerdale's recent car crash is set to have horrifying repercussions for survivor Rhona, when her painkiller addiction comes back to haunt her! The story looks likely to have huge consequences for her relationship with control freak Pierce, who has a few skeletons in his closet...

"Obviously Rhona has a history with painkillers, so her road to recovery might be tricky," explains actress Zoe Henry, who plays her. "Pierce knows of her past, but hasn't experienced it – so it's going to be difficult for him to understand."

"Of course, the irritating fact is that Paddy was very good at dealing with Rhona when she was on pills," adds the star. "He's understanding and knowledgeable, whereas Pierce is saying, 'Hold on a minute – this is my job!' He's annoyed that he doesn't know how to cope with it."

Meanwhile, Dales fans will get a glimpse into Pierce's soul when we learn more about him.

"Pierce is driven, and there is a reason," teases Jonathan Wrather, who plays him. "He didn't have a straightforward upbringing, and there are elements to it that explain why he is the way he is, perhaps with women specifically..."

The aftermath of the car smash and the lives of those affected will continue to be explored in the coming weeks.

THE BIG INTERVIEW

CORONATION STREET | ITV Thursday

“Eva should drop Aidan like a hot brick!”

As her character pushes Aidan and Maria together again, star Catherine Tyldesley reckons trouble is on the cards...

While we can all see Aidan for the cheating cad he is, Eva is adamant she's finally found her prince.

For the past few weeks – ever since his and Maria's saucy sofa session – Aidan has been walking on eggshells, desperate to keep his deception a secret. And all the while, his girlfriend has remained unaware, busy plotting her and Aidan's future together.

Heartbreak is on the cards, and unwitting Eva speeds that awful prospect along this week by naively reuniting Aidan and Maria as Maria struggles with the drama over Caz's disappearance. And while Eva believes she's being a loyal pal, actress Catherine Tyldesley, who plays her, is outraged on her behalf...

“I reckon Maria deserves a kick up the backside!” chuckles the 33-year-old star.

“AS FAR AS EVA IS CONCERNED, AIDAN IS PRINCE CHARMING!”

“So I'm hoping we might see a little catfight between Eva and Maria somewhere down the line. As an actress it would be loads of fun, and it's something I've not done before – I've poured plenty of pints over heads, but never had a full-on scrap!”

Right now, though, falling out with Maria is the last thing Eva expects. While she sweetly believes she is living the dream with Aidan, she hopes that the perfect man is out there for Maria as well. But little does she realise that her own ideal bloke is the one Maria is hankering after...

“In Eva's eyes, everything in her life is wonderful,” admits Catherine. “She's got the man of her dreams, but she can see her old single self in Maria.

Ave Maria: Aidan has lived to regret his romp with his neighbour

Aidan the enemy: Eva's smile will evaporate when the truth comes out!

Would you Aidan and Eva it?:
The factory boss stays over at Maria's at his girlfriend's behest

So ironically, she wants to find somebody as good as Aidan for Maria! As far as Eva is concerned, Aidan is Prince Charming."

However, it seems Eva is destined to be brought back down to earth when she insists this week that Aidan should stay with Maria, who is clearly troubled (see p12). But canny Catherine would have had Aidan banged to rights long ago...

"Eva can see that Maria is scared, and she's confident enough to allow her man to stay in another woman's house," shares the star, who is married to fitness trainer

Tom Pitfield, with whom she has

18-month-old son Alfie. "Eva lives in this fairy tale world, but I think I'd have sussed Aidan out by now!"

While she's looking forward to Eva and Maria's scrap, Catherine has some advice for her deluded character when reality strikes.

"If I was Eva's friend, I'd tell her to drop Aidan like a hot brick!" laughs the actress. "It's time she lived her life as an independent woman. But she'll have to get even first, of course!"

"I'm loving filming the build-up to Eva finding out.

I adore Corrie as a viewer, so I'm excited to find out what's in store

– I can see Eva losing the plot over this..."

ALLISON JONES

Friends FOREVER!

THERE'S NO CHANCE of the fur flying between Catherine and Samia Longchambon, who plays Maria! Throw Shayne Ward (Aidan) into the mix as well, and three makes for a rather fun crowd at work...

"Working with Samia and Shayne is such a laugh," grins Catherine. "In between takes, Samia and I gossip all day! We have a lot of the same interests – our kids aren't too dissimilar in age, and our husbands are both personal trainers, so we have loads in common. And Shayne cracks me up non-stop! We're always singing together, which is great. He's as daft as I am – and having someone on set who shares the same 12-year-old mentality as me is a lot of fun!"

Rough and Mitchell:
Poor Jay ended up on the streets for a while

As Jay's debts spiral out of control, actor Jamie Borthwick is reaping the rewards...

While deep down he's desperate to be a decent man, Jay can't do right for doing wrong at the moment. Up to his neck in debt to a ruthless drug dealer, the strapped-for-cash Walford fella can't pay what he owes. With time and options running out, poor Jay is left in an impossible situation. But while there's seemingly no end in sight to his nightmares, his woes make actor Jamie Borthwick – who plays the troubled young lad – very happy...

It's been one thing after another for Jay for months now! Are you enjoying this latest storyline?

I'm very happy with the way it's all been handled, and I've loved playing out this tricky period. I think it's probably going to get worse for Jay before it gets better, but it's all great stuff. His world is crumbling around him and he's close to getting trapped. He's scared of the dealer he owes money to and is running out of avenues.

What do you reckon has brought him to such a low point in his life?

I'd say it's because he feels worthless. After everything that happened with Linzi [Jay was arrested when it transpired that his girlfriend was underage], he felt unwanted by his family and his friends. He was rejected and had nowhere else to turn. That's how he ended up selling drugs, because he had to survive somehow.

Deep down he's not a bad lad, though – he has good intentions.

Absolutely. There's no evil in Jay, and you have to feel for him. Anyone with a heart has to feel sorry for him, I'd say! He's likeable, and I feel the nation has taken him to their hearts a little bit. I've had loads of mums come up and say to me, "I just want to feed you up and give you a cuddle!". And it's lovely when you get that kind of response.

"JAY HAS ENDED UP LIKE THIS BECAUSE HE FEELS WORTHLESS"

Fits the Billy: Jay lived with Honey and co as things went to hell for him

You say you relish playing out the bad times for Jay, but are these kinds of storylines also challenging?

Well, I'm kind of settled into my little routine now. That involves sitting in my room batting everything about in my head – doing a load of bedroom acting, basically! That helps me with all the dark stuff, and I'm happy and comfortable enough to enjoy the challenge.

Having worked for so long with EastEnders legends such as Steve McFadden (Phil) and Perry Fenwick (Billy), you must have learned a lot.

Definitely. They've been more than mentors to me – they're like family. There are a hell of a lot of cast members here who I do consider a second family, because I've spent nearly half my life working on EastEnders, and I've had some fantastic moments.

When you're working with the younger members of the cast, do you feel like a mentor to them yourself?

There's little Freddie [Phillips], who plays Billy's son Will, and Bleu [Landau], who plays Denny – those two specifically because they're part of Jay's family and we work quite closely together. Every time they come on set, I have a little moment to myself thinking, 'Wow, that was me 10 years ago...'. I really understand their excitement about being in the show, so I try to help them as much as I can. They're cracking lads and great little actors.

What would you say is the most important thing you've learned while working at EastEnders?

People have said this to me a lot, but it's something I've picked up myself as well – just try not to get complacent. Realise how fortunate you are to have this job and feel respected among your peers. I feel very loved among the people I work with, and that's something I value highly. I have a lot of respect and admiration for everyone here, and I'm grateful for everything I've learned.

ALLISON JONES

ON THE JOB!

IT'S ALL IN A DAY'S WORK FOR JAMIE...

"I love filming on the Albert Square set – summer or winter, it's always a nice place to be. My other favourite place is No 55, where Jay lives. It feels like home when I'm there with our nice family group. When we get together, it's great."

"One of my favourite stories was Billy's stag do before he married Honey back in 2006. He woke up in a bed shop after having his clothes stolen. I wasn't in the show then, but watched it and thought it was hilarious!"

"My favourite person to work with is Harry Reid [Ben]. There are times when we just can't stop laughing. We always have fun on set, but we know when to draw the line and get on with our work..."

"I've always watched EastEnders, and Phil Mitchell is my favourite character."

Phil and his brother Grant have had great stories, and I remember most of them. Working with Steve McFadden – who plays Phil – means we sometimes have lovely chats, and I really enjoy getting an insight into the old days."

"A scene that I've shot that always sticks in my mind is when Ben and Jay go home after Ben has just killed Heather Trott. Jay can't handle it, and Billy comes in and talks to him. After filming that, I walked away feeling like I'd done a good job."

“This surrogacy will be a huge challenge for Sonya”

As her character makes a life-changing decision, actress Eve Morey advises her to proceed with greater caution...

Egging them on: Sonya makes a rash offer to Steph and Mark

When Sonya first mooted the idea of being a surrogate for her best mates Steph and Mark, we couldn't help but think that she was stark raving bonkers! Of course, it was a generous thing to do, and she would be making their dreams come true – but the couple have only been together for five minutes, and their relationship isn't exactly rock solid at the moment.

This week, the saga takes another turn when Steph finds out that her eggs are no longer viable – prompting Sonya to impulsively offer up hers! And as we get on the phone to Australia for a chat with actress Eve Morey, who plays Sonya, she admits that she's been struggling to get her head around Sonya's offer, too...

“As soon as I heard about this story, I knew it was going to be trouble!” she tells us. “I understand that with Sonya's generosity of spirit she would want to do this, and I'm totally pro-surrogacy. But I have to say that my initial reaction was, ‘Steph and Mark? Really?’. Personally I'd have said, ‘Let's wait 12 months and if you're still going strong, we'll do it then’. However, Sonya wants to help them straight away, which left me a little bit terrified!”

Although Sonya insists that she's given the surrogacy due consideration, it's clear that she hasn't thought at all about offering up one of her own eggs to the couple. This would make the baby the biological child of her and Mark – and worse still, she doesn't even consult husband Toadie before making the suggestion!

“She doesn't do that on purpose,” insists Eve. “She can see how disappointed Mark is that the surrogacy won't be able to go ahead now, and she's more just thinking out loud. She does back it up by saying that she'd have to talk to Toadie about it first. But Mark lets slip to Toadie, who then confronts Sonya about contemplating the idea without speaking to him. He feels betrayed by that – it's a powerful scene.”

We'll just have to wait and see whether Toadie and Steph will be on board with their other halves basically having a baby together. But Eve's not sure that her alter ego will really be able to give up the baby at the end of the pregnancy.

“Sonya reckons she's thought it all through,” she reveals. “She's giving her best friends the greatest gift in the world – but can she carry a baby for nine months, then watch it grow up across the street? She already has issues about abandoning her son Callum years ago, and although that was for different reasons, I don't know if she's quite accepting the reality of the situation. I think it's going to be a huge challenge for her.”

Not just for her, but for Toadie as well. The surrogacy has already caused ripples in their marriage, and Eve fears that things are only set to get worse.

“I actually don't like all the dramatic and emotional stuff,” she confesses. “I get so involved, especially with Toadie and Sonya's relationship, that I just think, ‘Oh my gosh, what's with all this turmoil and angst?’. I do worry for them. But at the same time I want to keep my job!”

The surrogacy storyline would mean potentially adding a new baby into the mix, which would certainly make things interesting on set. Eve already works with young actress Scarlett Anderson, who plays her screen daughter Nell, as well as having a daughter, Ivy, at home. And she admits to finding parenting a two-year-old a challenge.

“Scarlett is so easy-going and gorgeous,” she grins. “And my little girl Ivy is all those things and more. My husband [former Neighbours star Jonathon Dutton, who played Tad Reeves] was quite an intense kid, but we didn't think we'd get him in a female form! I'm sure when Ivy is 30 and we're having a glass of wine together, it will make for really wonderful and passionate conversations. But right now she's wilful – and she knows how to push my buttons!”

SARAH ELLIS

Marking time: Is Steph's latest relationship really built to last?

DISASTER WITH A CAPITAL DEE!

THE REBECCHI MARRIAGE has already been placed under strain by Sonya's surrogacy plans, and things are only set to get worse with the return of Dee! So how does Eve feel about Toadie's other wife coming back to haunt him?

"Oh man, I've been fearing this for a while – it's Sonya's worst nightmare!" shivers the actress. "Just when you think things can't get any more intense for Sonya and Toadie, Dee comes back!

"Sonya is the kind of character who viewers either love or hate, so I think a lot of them will be excited that Dee's back. Madeleine [West, who plays Dee] is amazing, and it makes for some great storylines – it's pure, perfect soap!"

Actress Chelsee
Healey is thrilled to be a part of Chester's wildest family...

Twin it to win it: Goldie and her boys are after a better life in Hollyoaks

I'm so happy to be playing a McQueen!

Chelsea Healey is no stranger to our screens thanks to her memorable roles in Waterloo Road and Casualty – and after she took a short break from TV, we were delighted when Hollyoaks announced that she'd be joining their cast to play Goldie McQueen. After months of waiting for her to make her explosive entrance into the village, the day has finally arrived as Myra discovers her cousin kipping in Mercedes' bed! Her character is a McQueen by name and by nature, and star Chelsea can't wait for her fiery alter ego to make her debut...

Are you looking forward to showing off your first episodes?

Yes, they're finally here! Once I started filming I knew it was going to be a while until I was on screen, so it's been a long build-up and I've been putting the work in. Now I can't wait for everyone to see what I've been doing, so it's really exciting!

Were your fans pleased when they found out about your new role?

Yeah, I've had nothing but positive comments, which has been really nice and refreshing. Lots of people have been sending tweets saying they can't wait to see me back on the telly, so I hope they enjoy it. One fan even made Goldie into a Sims character!

So is Goldie a typical McQueen?

She's very bubbly, she says what she feels and doesn't mind getting into trouble with the law! But beneath the madness she's a loving girl, and would do anything for her family. I think she's funny and I'm hoping all the scenes I've done so far make people smile. But the McQueens aren't very pleased to see her...

How does she get on with some of the other characters?

She starts robbing handbags from Cindy's shop, so their relationship doesn't get off to a good start. And she sets her sights on Jesse, which isn't good because he's with Celine – and she knows that! Adam, Louis and James are a bit fascinated by her because they've never seen anyone like her in the village. She's so flamboyant, her dress sense is mad, and she's causing trouble with everyone!

Is she likely to be annoying, or will people sympathise with her?

I hope people sympathise. She comes to Hollyoaks wanting a

Drama McQueen: Goldie is set to cause all manner of trouble for her family better life because she actually thinks the McQueens are posh! I find that really funny, but if she thinks the McQueens are well-off that shows how little she has herself. I think there are a few scenes where you'll feel sorry for her.

"GOLDIE DOESN'T MIND GETTING INTO TROUBLE WITH THE LAW"

How did you feel when you found out that you'd be playing a McQueen?

I was made up! I was happy enough to get the part in Hollyoaks, but when they told me I was a new McQueen I was so glad. They're a massive part of the show, and Jen [Metcalf, who plays Mercedes] and Nicole [Barber-Lane, aka Myra] have made me feel right at home. I wouldn't have wanted to join as anyone but a McQueen.

How's it living up to your time in Waterloo Road and Casualty?

I've never actually done a soap before – only dramas – so I'm still finding my feet and really enjoying it. I think Goldie and Janece [Chelsea's Waterloo Road character] are quite similar, but Goldie's a lot more eccentric! And I liked playing Honey in Casualty because she was so ditzy. I loved both jobs and still remember them fondly.

Is it true that you have had a part in Hollyoaks before?

Yeah, I did one episode many years ago – around about the time I did Waterloo Road. I played Michelle, Danny Valentine's ex-fiancée. It was such a long time ago!

What have you been up to recently?

I was in the Keep Dancing stage show with Robin Windsor from Strictly, and it was amazing. This is the first year I've watched Strictly because usually I'm too sad it's not me doing it! Danny Mac [aka Hollyoaks' Dodger Savage] has been brilliant.

LAURA HEFFERNAN

GOLDIE IS BRINGING ALONG TWO TEARAWAY TWINS...

Goldie will soon be followed by her twin teenage boys Prince and Hunter, and with such a troublesome mum, it's no surprise that the twins are set to cause chaos once they descend on Hollyoaks High! But in reality, Chelsea assures us that the lads are far more manageable.

"They've been a dream to work with," praises the actress. "Goldie had Prince and Hunter at 13, which I hope viewers will find believable – it's not that far-fetched for Hollyoaks! She's their mum and she loves them, and she tries to keep them in line, but she acts like their friend too. Maybe that's why they're so off the rails!"

Actress Cathy Shipton tells us how she feels about her alter ego's new romance...

Remember, remember the fifth of November – that's how the old rhyme goes. And this year, Fireworks Night is sure to be one that Casualty favourites Charlie and Duffy won't forget in a hurry! After years of being good friends, the spark between them is ignited this week, as they share their first-ever kiss. But does it mean the two of them are set to become a proper couple? Actress Cathy Shipton, who plays Duffy, tells us we're in for a whopping roller coaster of a romance...

"It was brilliant to pick up the script and read about the kiss!" enthuses the star, who's appeared in the show on and off since 1986. "I can't deny feeling a bit of trepidation, as often dramas are more interesting if you don't resolve these sorts of stories. But the writers have brought Charlie and Duffy to a place in their lives where it just makes sense. It's what the audience has wanted for years!"

As Cathy reminds us, though, filming a screen smooch isn't very glamorous.

"We shot it in a tiny little cupboard, and the entire crew were crammed into a small space behind us, so it felt very weird," explains the star, who has a teenage daughter, Tallulah, with her former Casualty co-star Christopher Guard (Ken Hodges). "As a consequence of what happens in the episode, Duffy is very emotional, so at the time I remember thinking that I looked like the back end of a bus!"

"For both me and Derek [who plays Charlie], though, the kiss itself felt absolutely natural," adds Cathy. "We've known each other for a long time, and that stood us in good stead. There was no awkward fumbling. He wanted me to feel comfortable, and equally I wanted him to be okay, so we looked out for each other."

So now that Charlie and Duffy have crossed the line from friends to lovers, what does the future hold for them?

"It's not straightforward," hints Cathy. "We know that Duffy is still married to Ryan and they have two kids, so there is a lot for her to weigh up. There are ups and downs right up until Christmas, and a couple of episodes are real humdingers!"

We've no doubt that there is plenty of drama to look forward to now that Duffy is back on the show as a regular cast member – a development that has thrilled Cathy.

CASUALTY | BBC1 Saturday

"Duffy's kiss with Charlie felt absolutely natural!"

No Duff notes here: Duffy and Charlie have known each other a long time

"When I came back for a couple of episodes last year, it was always at the back of my mind that returning for longer might be a possibility," she confesses. "And they didn't kill me off in the anniversary episodes! I thought Duffy might have been one of the victims of the helicopter crash."

"I think a few people were surprised I could still remember the medical jargon, or how to do things," continues Cathy. "As I'm doing an ultrasound scan, they'll be looking at me thinking,

'How can you do that after being away for so long?'. Scary!"

The gloves are off. Sophie has switched from doctor to patient!

The star is certainly very convincing in this week's episode, where Duffy is tasked with delivering her son Peter's first baby. His girlfriend in the show is played by ex-Hollyoaks star Sophie Austin, aka 'Gloved Hand Killer' Lindsay Roscoe, who filmed the birth scenes after finding out about her own real-life pregnancy!

"Sophie told production early on, then told me," explains Cathy. "I just made sure that she was comfortable, had lots to drink and wasn't tired. Out came my mothering instincts!"

So we have to ask: does Cathy think she'd be able to deliver a baby for real?

"If it was straightforward, I think I could jolly well assist!" she chuckles. "It's funny, I've had people come up to me in the supermarket or on the Tube and say, 'Excuse me, but did you deliver my twins?'. It's before they get clued in that I'm on the telly, and genuinely think that I've delivered one of their children.

My reply is always, 'Trust me, you wouldn't want me down that end!'"

LAURA-JAYNE TYLER

Medical history!

CATHY LOOKS BACK ON SOME OF THE FUN TIMES SHE'S HAD IN THE ED...

"My favourite stunt was when myself and Nigel Le Vaillant [who played Dr Julian Chapman] had to jump out of a helicopter. The devil in me said yes after they offered us full training with the RAF, but Nigel was furious that I'd agreed because he didn't want to do it. He did in the end, though!"

but when she was on camera she was like a swan – effortless. I loved my scenes with her because she was really humble and had a brilliant sense of humour."

"The trickiest procedure I've ever had to perform was on location at a hospital in Bristol – with Nigel again! Duffy and Julian dealt with a crushed pelvis, and Nigel had to drill into a block of wood to make it look like he was drilling into bone. I had to stand behind him and hold him up, as he was either going to be sick or faint!"

"Kate Winslet appeared in the show when she was about 17, and was fantastic. She worked very hard,

"If I could bring back one of my former Casualty colleagues for the day, it would be Barbara Marten, who played a sister called Eve Montgomery. She had such a wonderful on-screen presence, and in real life we shared a flat. It was great fun!"

THE AMAZING SUPERDI!

AS DIANE GOES INTO BATTLE THIS WEEK TO DISCOVER WHAT REALLY HAPPENED TO ANDY, WE REVEAL WHY CHRISSIE SHOULD NOT UNDERESTIMATE DETERMINED MRS SUGDEN...

PHOTOS: REVS/SHUTTERSTOCK

MOTHER!

The Sugdens may be her stepfamily, but Diane regards them as her own. She fought hard to rebuild the clan after Jack's death, and has always looked out for Andy and Victoria. She's even stayed loyal to scheming Robert! She's supported daughter Bernice through her many romantic disasters, and accepted and loved nephew Paul even after she discovered he was Rodney's son. And now that she knows there is something fishy going on where Andy's disappearance is concerned, there will be no stopping this super-mum getting to the truth...

SURVIVOR!

As well as beating cancer twice, Diane was badly injured in the Kings River show home explosion – and after she recovered from her injuries, the only long-lasting effect was a new-found lust for life! Most recently, traumatised Chas ended up stabbing Diane when she believed she was an intruder in the Woolpack. Diane pulled through, and while being treated for the wound, she learned she was suffering from cancer for the second time. Diane even mooted that Chas stabbing her had actually saved her life!

FIGHTER!

Having run the Woolpack for so many years, level-headed Diane knows how to deal with a tricky situation or two. You'd always want her on your side. Whether steadfastly sticking by young Andy when he stood trial for the manslaughter of his adopted mum Sarah, or ending up enemies with Chas after her son Aaron was arrested for shooting Robert, she fights for her own. And when Cameron Murray held several locals at gunpoint in the pub, who risked her own life to try to shout for help? Our Diane did!

SISTER!

If you can handle life with Val as your sister, you are tougher than most. Selfish Val hurt Diane by sleeping with Diane's hubby Rodney – and years later schemed to convince Diane to relinquish control of the Woolie, so she could get her own hands on it! But however many times Diane may have claimed to disown Val, she never did. Her loyalty was rewarded as they both lay trapped in a hall of mirrors after the helicopter crash, and Val insisted Diane be rescued first – knowing she faced death. Diane was devastated by her sister's demise.

LOVER!

Diane has been no stranger to romantic heartbreak – from Rodney walking out on her when Bernice was a child to schemer Charlie Haynes conning her out of her life savings – but she's always come out the other end, dusted herself off and got on with life. Her fellas have included Alan Turner and local builder Mack MacKinley, and even an ill-advised romp with Val's hubby Pollard, but she's never given up on true love – and we think she and Doug make a smashing couple these days!

Black jackets on the red carpet...

Life in Albert Square is many things, but it's certainly not stylish – so we were delighted to see these three young Walford stars all scrubbed up to attend BBC Radio 1's Teen Awards in Wembley. Dressed in a black dress and biker jacket, Tilly Keeper (Louise) beamed as she posed alongside cast mates Jamie Borthwick (Jay) and Harry Reid (Ben), who also won out in the style stakes. They didn't steal the limelight for too long, though, as a giant Pikachu character outshone them on the red carpet and had the trio chuckling. That's showbiz!

Child's play!

Corrie's Shayne Ward (Aidan) and former Hollyoaks star Sophie Austin (Lindsey Roscoe) were spotted looking loved-up and excited at The Baby Show in London – and judging by Sophie's growing bump, we think the couple were wise to be stocking up on some baby essentials sooner rather than later!

Also spotted at the show was Sophie's old co-star Ayden Callaghan (Joe) alongside his wife Sarah-Jane Honeywell and their adorable tot Phoenix. But these stars weren't the only ones busy with family matters recently...

Sophie had the right idea, getting Shayne to carry all the bags!

Charlie Brooks (EastEnders' Janine Butcher) was joined by her daughter Kiki for some exercise – and the little lass is certainly growing up to look like her mum!

Putting in all the leg work was Emmerdale's Adam Thomas (Adam), who took his adorable boy Teddy for his first bike ride!

At your mercy!

Jonathan arrived in Emmerdale village as mysterious Pierce earlier this year, and here the 47-year-old talks motorcycles, super-stunts, and going back to school...

If you weren't an actor, what would you be doing?

...asks Miriam, via email

I'm passionate about taking pictures, especially portrait photography – so I think I'd be a photographer. I've always loved taking pictures, but never really did any proper training. I just read a lot of books and taught myself about it. I like it because it's creative but also a little bit technical – there's something nerdy about it!

How much did you enjoy being a part of the 'Super Soap Week' episodes?

...asks Maya from Torquay

It was a real buzz. Everybody loved working on them because the writing wasn't like normal, and we used different cameras – the episodes were presented in a new way, which was fantastic. Everyone really stepped up, and the stunts were extraordinary! Every day there was a different one going on, and we got to watch it all. I take my hat off to those stunt guys and girls who were chucking the cars around and flying bikes through the air.

There's a photo of a motorbike on your Twitter page – are you a big fan?

...asks Em, via email

I love my bike, Em! I came to motorbikes later on in life, because I was never allowed one as a kid. I get so much joy out of riding, and I'd love to do a tour with Dominic Brunt [aka Paddy], who's also a fan. Just a few days in the UK or in Europe – if our respective wives allow us! I rode to work a lot in the summer, and driving into the village as the sun was coming up was stunning.

What's your favourite thing to get up to on a day off?

...asks Kath, via email

My ideal day off would involve doing something with my little boy, Otis, who's 18 months old. We'd go out and do something together, whether it was in the park or by the lake. Then go for a ride somewhere, that'd be fab.

You played Joe Carter in Coronation Street – what was the best thing about being on the show, and do you still watch it?

...asks Diane, via email

I do dip in from time to time. I made some really good friends there, and I still see Simon Gregson, who plays Steve. He's a great friend. There's a nice connection between Corrie and Emmerdale – there was a summer party for both shows at the Corrie studios earlier this year, and it was really nice to reconnect with familiar faces.

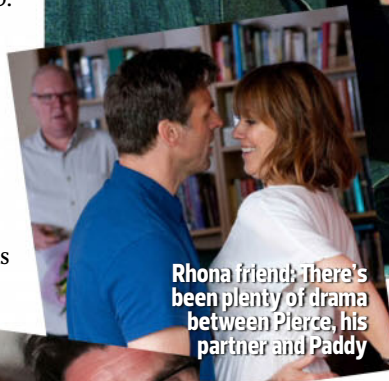

On Wikipedia it mentions that you're an editor as well as an actor – how did that come about?

...asks Claire from Darlington

A few years ago I took a sabbatical from acting and did an intensive year-long Masters degree in publishing, just because I really love books.

Don't forget Carter: Jonathan played the Street's Joe from 2002 to 2003

Rhona friend: There's been plenty of drama between Pierce, his partner and Paddy

Beaming son: Jonathan with his little'un Otis

It was refreshing to do something totally different. I wasn't a big fan of school, but later on in life you have more of a thirst for learning, so I really relished it. But I did feel a lot older than most of my classmates!

What do you make of Pierce – are we going to be shocked by him in the coming weeks?

...asks Beth, via email

He's quite complex, isn't he? He's come from a relatively troubled life, and we'll be hearing a little bit about his backstory soon. But we'll see his more vulnerable side, which will help us empathise with him more. He's had a lot to deal with, and I'm looking forward to what's coming up!

What's the best holiday you've been on?

...asks Kim, via email

I once travelled in northern Thailand, and stayed with two or three different hill tribes for a couple of days at a time, which was amazing.

Which is your favourite bit of the Emmerdale village set?

...asks Tina from Cardiff

You just want to live there – it's so beautiful. I like the area around Smithy Cottage, where Pierce and Rhona live, because we're right at the top of the village, and you can look down the street and see what's going on. There's also a little seat around the tree near Smithy. I love just sitting there.

If you could live anywhere in the world, where would it be?

...asks Anna, via email

That's a really good question, Anna! Probably in the country, although I'm not sure exactly where. I like being near water, so I'd love to live on a lake. Also, my wife is German, and I enjoy going to Germany, so who knows – one day we may end up living in Germany.

HAVE YOU EVER BEEN STAR-STRUCK?

...asks Sara from Warrington

“Of course! I once worked with the French actor Jean Reno on a detective series called Jo. I had a very small part in one episode, filmed in Paris, and I had to try hard not to be star-struck because we had scenes together. I'm also sure I saw Penélope Cruz in Selfridges once. I kind of stalked her round the store, but I'm still not sure if it was her! I wouldn't have been able to speak to her in any case!”

Babou Ceesay stars in a drama about the killing that shocked the entire nation...

DON'T MISS!

DAMILOLA, OUR LOVED BOY | BBC1 Monday

Father & son

In November 2000, the murder of 10-year-old Damilola Taylor in Peckham, south London, left the nation reeling. Damilola's heartbroken parents Richard and Gloria were regularly in the papers and on television appealing for witnesses to come forward, and it took nearly six years to convict his killers.

This feature-length drama tells the story from the perspective of the Taylor family, from Gloria's return to the UK from Nigeria in August 2000, through the murder of Damilola and the effect it had on the family. They presented a united front for the cameras, but in private they struggled to cope with their grief and anger over the senseless death of Damilola (played here by Sammy Kamara), and the constant setbacks in the murder investigation.

"When I heard about this role, I thought it should be me because I felt so much affinity in terms of my background and where I come from," reveals actor Babou Ceesay, who plays Richard Taylor in the film. "I'd come to London and I was actually studying microbiology at the time, and I remember that day and that period, very viscerally. Being a fellow African who had the transition coming into the UK and trying to fit into this society, and that moment when culturally you're so different that actually you stick out."

"I found myself getting a lot more angry than I thought I would"

The programme makers conducted thorough research by speaking to Richard (sadly, Gloria died in 2008) and people who knew the family at the time, and made these documents available to the cast to help them with their preparation.

"I spent a lot of time with their dossier," shares Babou. "I guess it just came down to trying to connect with Damilola. There were a couple of things in it that I found very difficult, which I'd rather not talk about, but I found myself getting a lot angrier than I thought I would. It really had me questioning things and getting upset."

While the film was made with Richard's consent and support, he preferred not to visit the set, so Babou didn't actually meet him until after filming had wrapped.

"Early on, I said I wanted to meet him," he recalls. "And then Euros [Lyn, the director] floated the idea that I shouldn't. I resisted it at first, but he said that what we're doing will never amount to what Richard actually went through, that we have to treat it with the respect of being a drama and approach it from that angle, and I thought that made sense.

"So I had a little bit more freedom to trust my own instincts as a fellow West African," continues Babou. "Coming from a family that's very similar, and having a little brother and being a father myself, I just thought, 'Well, I'll try to see where that would take me' – but it was overwhelming and wonderful to finally meet Richard."

ORDINARY LIES | BBC1 Tuesday

THE FIRST SERIES of this workplace drama was a compelling look at the little fibs we tell every day that come back to haunt us – and moving to a different location with a new cast hasn't dented its charm for this second run. Each episode is a self-contained story, which makes it easy to jump in (although there are ongoing plot strands that reward you for watching it all), and the quality of the ensemble cast gives us a reason to come back each week. This time, warehouse worker Wendy (Rebekah Staton) is driven to desperation when her violent ex jeopardises her new relationship.

I have to say my favourite programme right now has to be The Great British Bake Off. I love Mary Berry – she's a legend, and I have a real soft spot for her! I also got really into Narcos on Netflix – it was so addictive that I had to watch the whole series in one night!

The Great British Bake Off

had comedy, drama and life lessons all wrapped up in one great show – please bring it back!

If I could be on any other show, I would love to be on Strictly Come Dancing as a contestant. This

My favourite film is The Usual Suspects. I love thrillers with a real big twist at the end. Even though I know the ending as I've watched it so many times, it never gets old!

I think my guilty pleasure has to be One Born Every Minute – until my sister had my nieces, I wasn't really much of a fan of babies, but now this show gets me sobbing every time I watch!

Stephen Mulhern and Rochelle Humes share some magic moments...

Trick or treat

Some of the world's finest magicians are coming to the small screen in this new six-part series. Each week, six acts will perform one of their most impressive tricks in the studio, and all of the performers will be scoring each other. The winner of each round goes through to the grand final, where the overall winner will be awarded their own ITV special. We caught up with hosts Stephen Mulhern and Rochelle Humes to find out more about the show.

What difference does it make that the magicians judge each other?

Stephen The magicians we have on this show are already famous in the areas that they come from, so they know what to look for in each other's tricks. Some of them have worked up to 10 years to perfect the act that you're going to see on this show. It's like Come Dine With Me, with magic!

What has the standard been like?

Magic Show lasted for 15 years was because of the speciality acts they had on from around the world, and that's what you'll see on this show. You won't see the stuff that these guys do anywhere else.

Rochelle It's such fun! I'm sort of the eyes of the viewer, saying, "Well, what happened there?". That's just my natural reaction, but it's so lovely to watch the audience's reactions as well.

Have you been left speechless by some of the acts?

Rochelle Yeah, and then I've got to go on and ask them a question, and I can't talk! I might think, 'Hang on, how did he do it, was there something behind there?' – and there's not, it's just magic! Stephen and I wear two different hats – he has a lot of knowledge of magic, but I'm just amazed by everything, to be honest!

Capital punishment

DARK HEART | ITV Encore Wednesday

Tom Riley stars as a London detective haunted by the past in a new drama...

Two men who were arrested, but not charged, on allegations of child sex abuse are brutally attacked within days of each other. DI Will Wagstaffe (known to his colleagues as 'Staffe') is on the case, but it's not the only one he's working on in this two-hour drama: he's also privately investigating the unresolved murder of his parents.

Hot stuff:
Tom Riley
as 'Staffe'

"He's a bit young to be in the role that he's in," reveals Tom Riley, who plays Staffe. "He's there because he's incredibly good at his job, but what drives him is the death of his parents when he was a kid. As a result he's slightly led by his emotions, so in places he can be a bit childish."

The story takes place during August, with London in the grip of a heatwave – which made things interesting for the cast.

"There's a feeling of oppressive heat," shares Tom. "Everything weighs heavily on people because they're tired and worn down by it, and everyone's very sweaty and tetchy. I've never had sweat marks added before – I had to raise my pits before every scene for the poor costume girl to come in and spray me!"

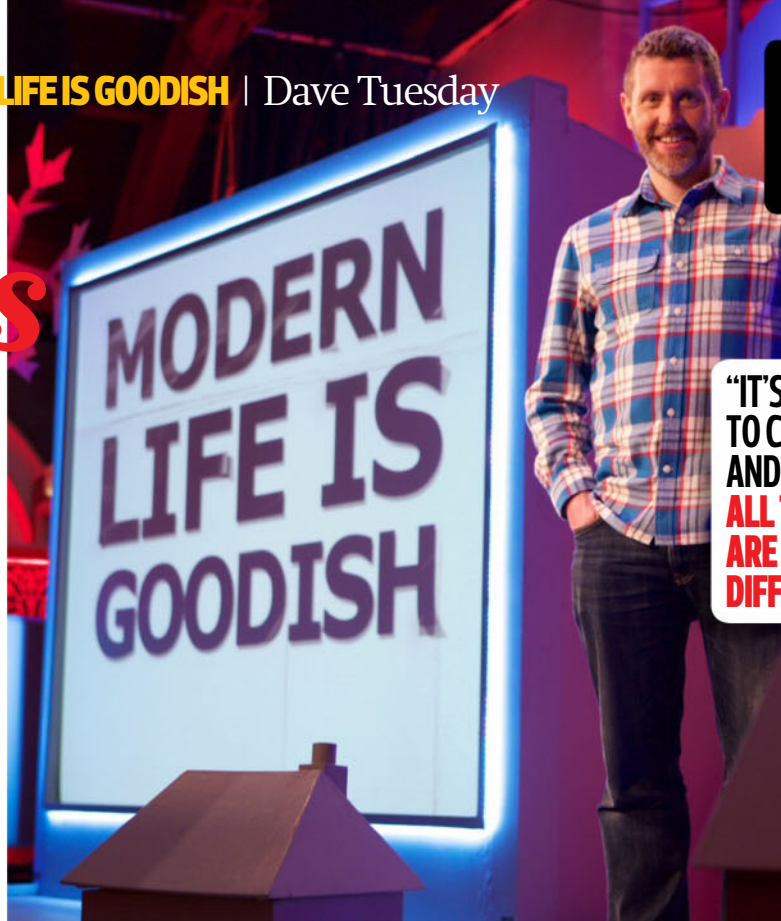

Life stories

Dave Gorman is back with more exasperated observations...

He's achieved the seemingly impossible and made slideshow presentations not just entertaining, but the cornerstone of a successful comedy series. Dave Gorman returns this week with more episodes of the show where he takes a slightly baffled look at the modern world – and he can't quite believe he's on series four already...

"It's ridiculous, the idea that there are four series," Dave tells Inside TV. "I feel a real sense of privilege because I don't know another comic who has a show which is sort of what they do live, only on telly, so I feel really, really lucky to have that!"

In the opening episode of this new series, Dave will be examining the idea of guilty pleasures, which is a concept he finds fundamentally flawed.

"One of the things in showbiz interviews would be 'what are your guilty pleasures?'" he muses. "And people say, 'Oh, Homes Under The Hammer' – I've never understood why there is supposed to be guilt attached to that. I want to hear people go, 'Shoplifting – I just can't help myself!'. Things that actually should involve guilt!"

The series will also feature, as usual, some of the odd encounters Dave has had with people on Twitter – often relating to things that he has said on this very show.

"As with all things, I think Twitter can be used very well and be really entertaining and enlightening," shares Dave. "But unfortunately, you can't have some test that says, 'Okay, you can use Twitter and you can't', so it's used by everyone, in every way! But that doesn't mean the benefits don't still outweigh the negatives."

THEY SAID IT!

CHINA: BETWEEN CLOUDS AND DREAMS

Channel 4 7pm

This new five-part documentary looks at China through the eyes of everyday people, with a particular focus on nature and the environment, which provides a rare perspective on the country.

In tonight's opener, school children in the town of Juegang on the east coast of China receive a letter from children in a Russian village asking for their help to protect the spoon-billed sandpipers as they migrate across the border, and four pupils investigate why the birds are threatened with extinction.

Also tonight, trainee monk Gama and his teacher Lama Zhou Zha help nomads to learn animal husbandry skills, and a disabled six-year-old child in Hunan, who was abandoned by her parents, finds a new purpose in saving porpoises.

THE X FACTOR

ITV 8pm

We don't know what theme the jukebox will have chosen for this week's show, but judging from some of the previous song selections, we're not even sure it'll make that much difference. (We're still reeling from 'Ice Ice Baby' in Divas Week.) Will Simon continue his run of good fortune in keeping all of his acts out of danger? Will Sharon remember her contestants' names? Will Louis even know what week it is?

PLANET EARTH II

BBC1 8pm

Back in 2006 the BBC broadcast its landmark Planet Earth series, which was at the time the most expensive nature series the corporation had ever made.

A lot has changed over the past 10 years, both in terms of our environment and the technology available for filming it, so now Sir David Attenborough is back with a sequel series that will once again take us to all the corners of the globe.

The first episode is all about islands, and begins on Escudo, off the coast of Panama, which is home to the (very, very cute) pygmy three-toed sloth, one of which is responding to a mating call from a female – but has to cross a large body of water to get there. Meanwhile, in the Galapagos Islands, rare iguanas face a fight for their lives from the moment they are born...

POLDARK

BBC1 9pm

George continues to charm the locals tonight as he gets his feet under the table at Trenwith, putting up fences and making it very clear that he doesn't want the peasants on his property. Are we wrong to want someone to just shove him down a mineshaft? Elsewhere, Dwight reacts rashly when he learns of Caroline's engagement, and Elizabeth is starting to worry about the paternity of her child.

MOVING ON

BBC1 2.15pm

The series of daily single dramas about people at a turning point in their lives returns for a new five-part series this week.

Today, Rosie Cavaliero and Corrie's Chris Gascoyne (Peter Barlow) star in the story of Mati (Antonio Aakeel), who is celebrating his 18th birthday when he receives a government letter containing the decision regarding his right to stay in the UK. Opening the envelope in private, he learns his application has been denied, and he's due to be deported back to Afghanistan.

Too terrified to reveal the truth to his mum, he pretends that everything's fine, but stressed and panicked by the prospect of deportation, Mati goes on the run – and it's only when immigration officials turn up at his mum's door that she realises why he fled...

Lasting impressions

MORGANA ROBINSON'S THE AGENCY

BBC2 10pm

Wrapping up the impressions series with a 'best of' episode (fine by us, any excuse to rewatch Natalie Cassidy's fame school), uber-agent Vincent Mann reveals how he copes with some of his celebrities' never-ending demands. Meanwhile, his A-list clients share their deepest thoughts on the difficulty of striking the balance between fame and happiness.

MASTERCHEF: THE PROFESSIONALS

BBC2 8pm

Gregg, Monica and Marcus are back for another series of the most nerve-shredding series in the MasterChef stable, because these contestants are professional chefs with their reputations on the line, so the judges' standards are very high.

"We're always excited to do this show," grins Monica. "We're thrilled to discover some great chefs and always disappointed when they're not so great in the beginning! But I think watching their journey throughout the competition, and how they change and develop as chefs, really makes it thrilling for us."

The series begins as usual with the skills test, which in this case involves the chefs being asked to cook a Steak Diane while the judges look on, sometimes with raised eyebrows.

"We're looking for a variety of different skills," explains Marcus. "All my dishes are based on two or three elements that I'm going to be looking for within a chef – it could be a bit of butchery, could be sauce-making. It's all based around basic college techniques to see whether or not the cook in front of us has got some form of education, have they read the books and mastered the basics?"

Some of the chefs do make a bit of a mess of the early challenges, but that's not necessarily the end of the road, and the judges are determined to always stay constructive in their criticism to ensure that the chefs can take their time on the show, however long it lasts, and build upon it.

"It's the easiest thing to do in life, to criticise somebody," shares Marcus. "The way I approached it, and I think Monica is almost identical to my thinking, is that we have 48 contestants coming into this competition, and I want to send 47 home feeling like they've had a great experience. That's always in the back of my mind – if the dish is inedible, it's how you tell the contestant."

"That person may not go home at that point, there may be someone else worse, and you don't want to put them in a place where there's no return! We're looking for them to grow within this environment."

8 OUT OF 10 CATS

More4 10pm

It's been a long time since 8 Out Of 10 Cats had a series outside of the Countdown mash-up version, and the show has had a little bit of a reboot as it moves to its new home on More4. Stalwart team captains Sean Lock and Jon Richardson have moved on, to be replaced by new blood Aisling Bea and Rob Beckett. But rest assured, host Jimmy Carr will still be quizzing them and their guest panellists on the subjects that have had Britain talking this week.

Changing history

BLACK AND BRITISH: A FORGOTTEN HISTORY

BBC2 9pm

Accounts of history are rarely comprehensive, and people who played important roles can be left out. Regrettably, this has often been the case with people of colour, and in this new series, historian David Olusoga looks at black British people of historical importance, with a view to establishing plaques for them.

He begins in Cumbria, near the western end of Hadrian's Wall, where a unit of North African Roman soldiers were stationed, making it the first African community in Britain.

David also meets Cedric Barber, who had a black great-great-grandfather, but who appears white as a result of generations of intermarriage. David investigates how many white Britons may have black ancestry they are unaware of.

THE SUPERVET

Channel 4 8pm

Noel Fitzpatrick is back on duty and facing a serious challenge tonight as golden retriever puppy Murphy is brought in after being attacked by another dog, with his jawbone hanging. Treating Murphy's injuries requires an extremely delicate operation, and the high risk of infection makes it even harder. Also this week, Noel tries out a pioneering partial knee replacement on a Hungarian vizsla dog.

THE BIG BANG THEORY

E4 8.30pm

Sheldon learning to tolerate other people in his space has been one of the slow-burn plotlines of this show, which makes tonight's episode all the sweeter: Amy's apartment is uninhabitable for a while, so Sheldon eventually agrees to live with her in Penny's apartment across the hall – as long as they frame it as a scientific experiment. It ought to be a dream come true for Amy to be cohabiting with Sheldon – but is she prepared for the reality of sharing a bedroom with him?

7pm

E4 9pm

Amy and Raquel are ready (well, as ready as they'll ever be) to rescue Suzanne from evil Callum – but will everything go according to plan? Or is there another double-cross lying in wait for the demon-hunting duo?

MARLEY'S GHOSTS

Gold 10pm

Since her husband and her lover are both deceased, it seems fair that Marley should be allowed to find someone alive to love – but Adam and Michael are deeply resistant to the idea. Still, at least the vicar is fighting her corner...

CLOSE TO THE ENEMY

BBC2 9pm

This new seven-part drama takes place in the aftermath of World War II, where intelligence officer Callum Ferguson (Jim Sturgess) has been tasked with getting a captured German scientist, Dieter, to work on developing the jet engine for the Royal Air Force.

"Callum thinks he's about to finish work on the war when he's given one last assignment – to mollycoddle a German engineer," explains Jim. "At the beginning, it's a difficult relationship – once enemies, they are now attempting to reach common ground, which they find through their work."

"Callum admires Dieter hugely, and eventually they become friends," adds the actor. "Dieter is a funny and brilliant mind, who was involved in horrific things at a horrific time. War does some terrible things to people."

STILL GAME

BBC1 9.30pm

Craiglang is looking to new horizons tonight – quite literally, because one of the old tower blocks is being demolished. It's a big event for the community and everyone's turned out for it, but Jack and Victor are relieved by Councillor McVitie's promise that their block isn't under threat. Well, that is until they receive a letter telling them it's next in line for demolition, at which point everything seems a bit bleak.

Wondering what this means for their future, the duo might have a lifeline from Mrs Fletcher (Ronni Ancona), who offers them temporary accommodation at the Braemar Care Home – but is it too good to be true?

Meanwhile, Tam thinks the regeneration of Craiglang could be an opportunity to make some cash and talks Winston into joining his latest venture.

RICK STEIN'S LONG WEEKENDS

BBC2 9pm

This is, for our money, one of the most eccentric travel/food shows around (that theme tune!), and for that reason we're very pleased to have it back.

This time, Rick's off to Lisbon, where he delights in the grilled sardines available on the street (even if they are a bit fiddly to eat) and the pastéis de Bélem (fancy custard tarts). He also pays a visit to Ramiro, the busiest restaurant in the city.

BBC4 10pm

British hip hop artist Akala was born two years after Bob Marley died, and grew up surrounded by his music. In this one-off documentary, Akala wants to get to the heart of roots reggae, and explore the power behind the music that helped to unite Jamaica in the 1960s. Starting out by canvassing opinions at the Hackney Empire, Akala then heads to Jamaica, where he goes in search of the ingredients that created such an irresistible sound.

PLEASE REMEMBER, ASHLEY!

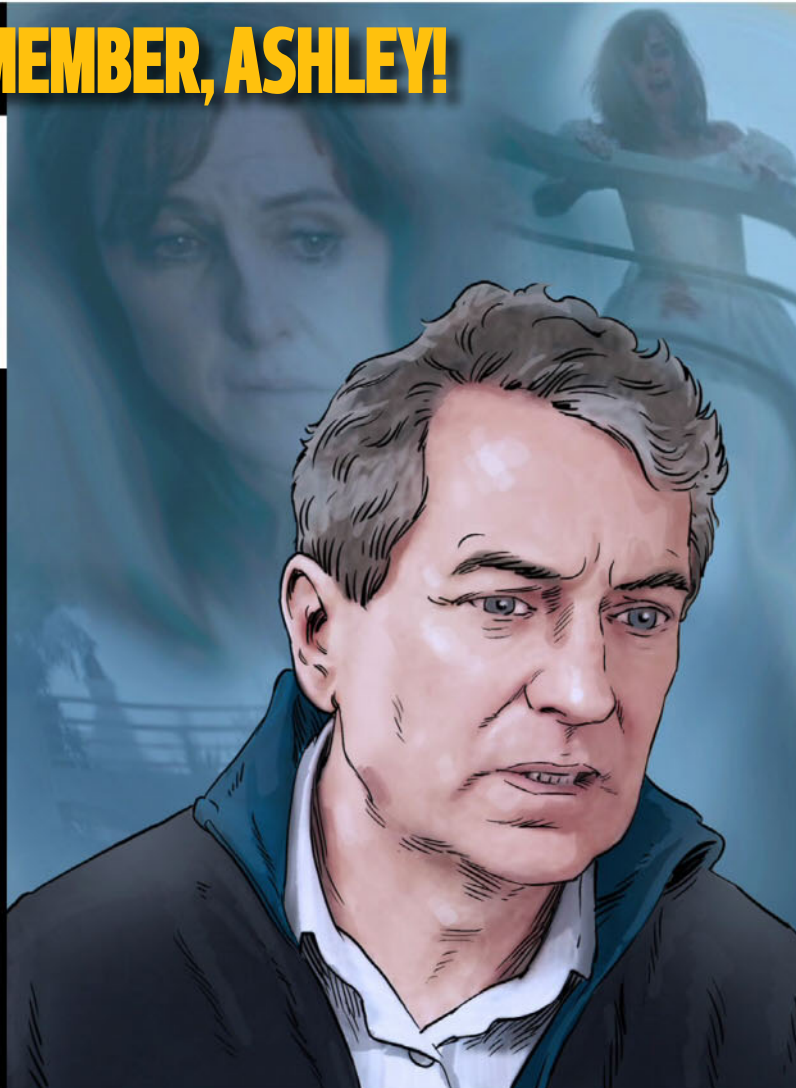

Emmerdale's huge multi-car pile-up on the Hotten bypass certainly moved many an Inside Soap reader to write or email. The big question is: will Emma get away with causing so much tragedy?

All I can say about Emmerdale is... just amazing! Everyone involved in the show deserves a big pat on the back. I was on the edge of my seat during the Friday episode, willing Aaron not to die. But I didn't want James or Rhona to, either. But what I hope most is that Ashley remembers seeing Emma on the bridge.

Kirsty, Brandon

Why is Emma Barton still nursing? The woman has been deranged since she first arrived in Emmerdale. Something serious needs to be done before more people lose their lives.

Gloria, Prescott

Emmerdale managed a true 'first' in my house last week: it passed the Husband Test! And what's the Husband Test, you ask? It's when a soap episode proves so gripping that my husband doesn't leave the room muttering, "I don't know why you watch this rubbish". There's no higher praise than Mr Collins staying in the room to watch! (Though I suspect it was because of all the crashing cars!)

Mrs Collins, via email

The real praise will be if Mr C carries on watching the following week. Do let us know, Mrs C!

I can't believe that the only witness to Emma causing the crash is Ashley, who has dementia. What a nasty twist!

Angie, via email
And will anyone believe Ashley even if he does remember?

Anna's horrible injuries left viewers open-mouthed in shock

FLAMIN' ECK

It's going to take me a long time to recover from watching Corrie this week. My heart was in my mouth during the bit when everyone was trying to lift the car while standing in a pool of petrol. And then poor Anna caught on fire! I was still sat with my mouth open right through the advert break and well into the next programme.

Nicky, London

RUSH OF ADRENALIN

Corrie's fireball scene involving Anna Windass made for sensational viewing. Actress Debbie Rush was extremely brave to tackle the sequence herself and not to request a body double.

Colin, via email

Great stuff, wasn't it? But the real question is: who won in the big battle of the ITV soaps?

RANT! RAVE! We love to hear your opinions. Here's how to get in touch...

LEAGUE OF HONOUR

Corrie's storyline of David's 'meltdown' was excellent – Jack P Shepherd has become such a good actor. But it wasn't in the same league as Emmerdale, which was gripping every single day with its week of intertwining stories. The way it was put together meant that you were never quite sure who would survive the mayhem. I congratulate all the cast, the writers, production staff and stunt team! What a brilliant week of soap!

Maureen, Lenham

We agree, Maureen. And the praise for Emmerdale just keeps on coming...

WALKING A FINE LINE

Aaron and Robert's proposal scenes were a nice change from their fighting. It was great to see Robert so happy and open. I thought it would never happen. I can't wait for the wedding. I just hope Rebecca doesn't ruin it.

Zoe, West Yorks

It was so romantic, wasn't it? We think Robert is the man to give Aaron the happy ending he deserves!

All hail Master Hall – growing up Dingle

SAM THE MAN

Am I right in thinking that there's a new actor playing Samson Dingle in Emmerdale? What a shame, the old one was such a little sweetie!

Marie, via email

Young actor Sam Hall is still a little sweetie, Marie – because he's still playing Samson! He's simply growing up before our eyes. Samson is 10, and actor Sam just a little older.

HILDA'S RETURN?

Coverage of the death of actress Jean Alexander said that Hilda Ogden left the Street on Christmas Day 1987, but I remember her returning for a fleeting visit. Did I imagine it?

Michael, via email

You're right! Hilda was seen in the Rovers one last time in 1990, as part of the ITV Telethon. She arrived with news that the doctor for whom she cleaned had proposed – but then she visited Stan's grave with the promise that there was only one man for her...

GET THE MESSAGE

I'm dismayed by EastEnders showing Martin Fowler furious at the idea of his daughter's boyfriend buying condoms. Given the number of unplanned pregnancies in soap, I think it's a good thing for young viewers of the show to see a character taking proper precautions for a change.

Peter, London

It's a good point, but also remember that Bex was still

"If only condoms had been around when my mum was a teen!"

15 at the time. And it's great to see EastEnders raising the issue this week of how teens can stand up to being 'bullied' into having sex.

DON'T FORGET EDDIE!

I enjoyed your feature about soap's most haunted houses, and the Queen Victoria pub quite rightly topped the board – but you failed to mention the lovely landlord Eddie Royle. Even though he wasn't actually in the Vic when he met his end, I believe it should knock the fear factor up even more. Killed walking his dog by nasty Nick Cotton. His spirit will forever haunt the Square!

Sarah, Swindon

That would be one of EastEnders more amusing plots – Eddie Royle turning up as a ghost, and no one remembering who he was!

SOAP shorts...

"I don't trust Xanthe's mum in Neighbours – she's clearly out to scam the Cannings," reckons Chas from Devon...

"I'm so bored of the Morgans in Home and Away – they're no Braxtons, are they?" grumbles Samantha from Aberdeen... "I felt really sorry for Lisa in Hollyoaks this week," emails Vicky from Swindon. "Simone telling her that she'd rather have Sonia as a daughter was totally out of order!" (But reporting her mum for drink-driving was a low act!)

Nasty Nick was always a right Royle pain

VIRGO 24 AUG – 23 SEPT

Sometimes it's nice to be nostalgic; at other times, that voice from the past can act as an anchor, pulling you back. History will revisit you this week – and it's up to you how you handle things.

Aw! Who knew that the most enchanting scene of the week would turn out to be Kirk gently stroking his little Peanut?

We were excited to take our first peek inside the White family utility room. It's surprisingly compact given the amount of dirty laundry they have to air.

We take our hats off to Corrie's Debbie Rush, who is doing a fantastic job at portraying the horrific effects of Anna's injuries. Her pain looks and sounds so authentic that you almost feel it. Meanwhile, we're incensed by the audacity of David Platt, who's walking around like he hasn't burned someone half to death and almost killed his own daughter. At least say you're sorry, lad!

After all the drama of the big car smash, it was comforting to see Emmerdale return to normal this week.

The sight of Dev tarted-up for his golf club dinner - like he's about to dance a charleston - made us sad that Corrie stars are discouraged from doing Strictly. He'd be Deviiiiine, darling!

"I'd love to be 16 again!" thrilled Lauren this week. Be careful what you wish for love. You'd have to give your job back to the other lass.

Claudette's only just got round to washing that dress she was buried alive in. Gross. But does dried concrete wash out even at 30 degrees?

Bex, love... When it comes to Shakil, you're definitely not missing anything. The speed with which he whipped off his trackies - without removing his shoes - doesn't bode well for his love-making skills.
